

Artikelforfattere

David Scott Hamnes

David Scott Hamnes is senior advisor on church music for the Church Council of the Church of Norway, and assistant professor in church music studies at the Institute for music at NTNU in Trondheim. He holds a master's degree in organ performance and musicology, and his PhD-dissertation in hymnology/musicology addresses the neue Sachlichkeit in Norwegian church music. He was born in Australia and emigrated to Norway in 1994. His roles in professional life show a range of interests, both in hymnology, church music practice, politics, and organ pedagogy for children. He has published many articles and book chapters on hymnological topics, pedagogy, and practical church music. More information: <https://www.ntnu.no/ansatte/david.scott.hamnes>.

Johan Máhtte Skum

Johan Máhtte Skum is senior advisor on Sámi church music and culture for the Church Council of the Church of Norway. He is a trained cantor and music educator with a master's degree in musicology. Johan Máhtte has worked with joik throughout his life, and in recent years has focused on Sámi church music, including serving as secretary and project coordinator for the Northern Sámi tune accompaniment book Sálbmagirjji šuoknjagirji.

Peter E. Nissen

Mag.art. i musikvidenskab og MA i teologi.

Underviser på Løgumkloster Kirkemusikskole og ansat medarbejder i Luthersk Mission, Danmark.